

PUERTO RICO

TELECOM

CONFERENCE 2011

THE NEW FUTURE

Mr. Juan M. Aguayo-Leal, MA

Director of Business Development Information Technologies,
Telecommunications, Engineering & Aerospace Puerto Rico Industrial Development Company (PRIDCO)

Mr. Juan M. Aguayo-Leal is a former infantry combat paratrooper and operations and logistics officer with the U.S. Army. He has a Master's Degree in Communications from Austin Peay State University in Tennessee, USA, and has completed courses in Business Administration from the University of New Orleans in Louisiana, USA.

He has over 20 years of experience in business communications and has completed training conducive to accreditations as Certified Global Business Professional, Project Management Professional and Real Estate Broker. Mr. Aguayo-Leal has also worked as professor of speech and business communications in universities within and outside Puerto Rico and as business consultant for non-profit organizations and a nationwide Hispanic television network.

Currently, Mr. Aguayo-Leal is the Director of Business Development for Information Technologies for the Puerto Rico Industrial Development Company. His team is responsible for providing professional assistance to businesses expanding manufacturing operations, establishing new R&D projects and/or acquiring new channels of distribution for products and services. He is also responsible for attracting global investments related to high technology industries among sectors such as information technologies, computing services and aerospace engineering. Current projects in Puerto Rico include Lockheed-Martin, Honeywell, Hewlett-Packard, Microsoft, Pratt & Whitney, ACS/Xerox, among others.