

Economic Forum
Friday June 29, 2012
8:30 a.m. - 11:0 a.m.

Thomas Klitgaard
Vice President and Function Head
International Research Function
Federal Reserve Bank of New York

Fields of interest:

Capital flows, Exchange Rates, International Trade, European economic issues

Mr. Klitgaard is the Head of the International Research Function. He studies cross-border financial flows and coordinates the Bank's global outlook. Mr. Klitgaard received B.A. degrees in both mathematics and economics from the University of California, Berkeley and a Ph.D. in economics from Stanford University.