

Ivonne M. Vega Pérez MD, MBA-HCM

Family Practice physician with a subspecialty in Geriatrics Medicine. Graduated from San Juan Bautista School of Medicine and Michigan State. Also, holds a master's degree in Business Administration with concentration in Health Care. Has practice primary medicine for over 25 years and has been focused on administrative medicine for 20 years. Selected as "Mujeres de Negocio" 2002 by "El Vocero", among "Mujeres de Primera" 2003 by Newspaper "Primera Hora". Also collaborated on publication of "Asthma Care Coordination Model for low income patients", with Dr. Mariaelena Lara, Allies against Asthma. This was a special project to promote and improve care of patients identified with a diagnosis of Asthma among the pediatric population in a residential area in Puerto Rico (Residencial Luis Llorens Torres). Nowadays, is the Chief Medical Officer for Humana PR market where she is in charge of clinical operations, Star ratings programs, Quality and Wellness and Pharmacy department.

Since the pandemic has been the primary caregiver for her mom and auntie, both with Alzheimer's disease. Married to a, also physician, for 28 years, mother of 2 daughters and 10 cats and dogs. Moved by her passion to serve others, volunteers to provide services for the homeless and a community of nuns. Also, Zumba instructor and recently joined a Flamenco class to learn the discipline.