“Uncertain Times Require New Approaches
to Face the road ahead.”

"There is a language in the world
that everyone understands;
it is the language of enthusiasm,
of things done with love, with respect,
with care, and with a will,
in the pursuit of what we desire or believe in."

The Zenith Investor examines the impact of current macroeconomic trends based on our assessment of the global economy and financial markets. This publication focuses on macroeconomics' uncertainty and the market's investment climate.

We thought it prudent to publish this special report that contains all of our notes in the graphs pages to follow along the intended dynamic of the presentation; we hope this version of The Zenith Investor will be helpful to you.

One-Quarter Down, Three-Quarters to go

As we put the first quarter of 2023 behind us, we must focus now on the three quarters to go, while it is safe to say that not even an Oscar-winning Hollywood script could have included as much drama in such a short period as the markets provided to us during the 1Q23.

We rank the five indices we follow by returns from 1/1/23 of 3/31/23:

- Nasdaq Composite 16.77%.
- S&P 500 7.03%.
- Dow Jones Industrial Average 0.38%.
- Birling Capital U.S. Bank Index -3.18%.
- Birling Puerto Rico Stock Index -6.54%.

Some of the critical issues we faced in these 90 days include:

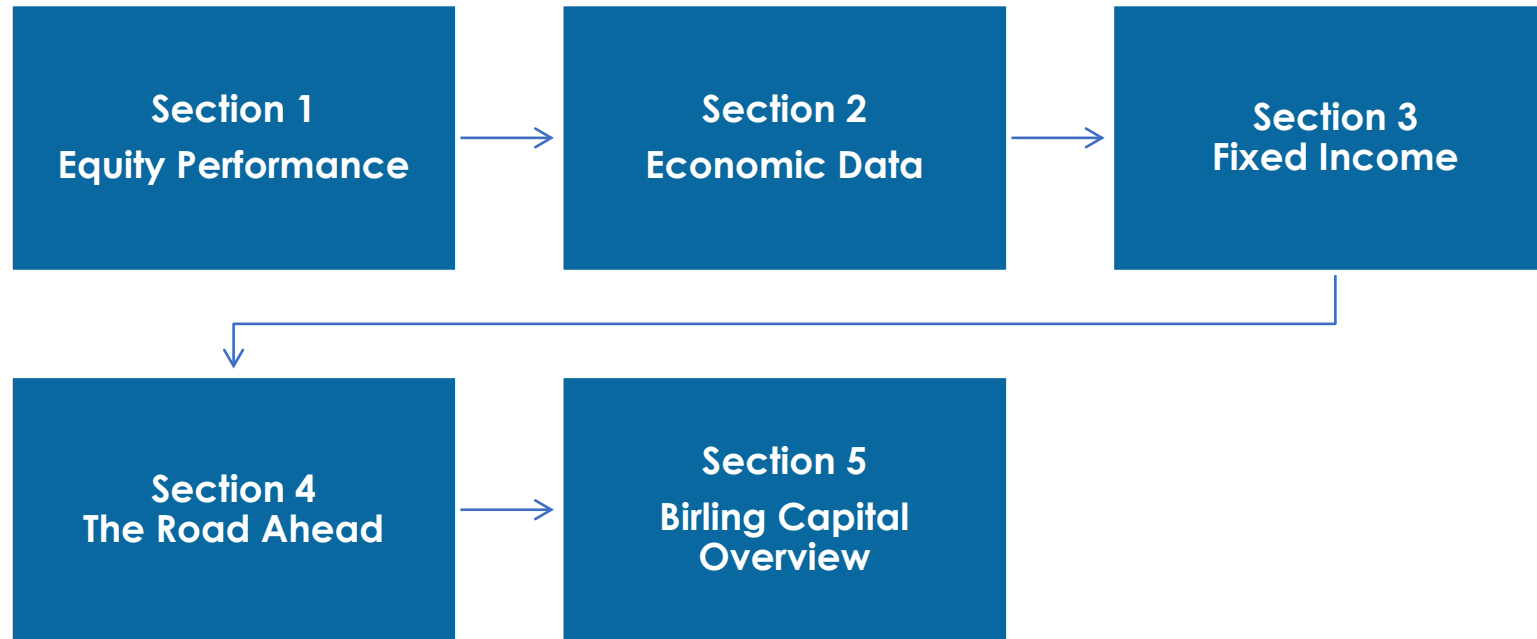

- The markets closed a highly volatile but positive first quarter, mainly led by the tech stocks and the Nasdaq Composite offsetting the impact on most financial and bank stocks.
- A Banking Crisis of Confidence began in social media, taking down Silicon Valley Bank, and Signature Bank, almost taking down First Republic Bank, and forcing the merger of UBS and Credit Swiss.
- With the Crisis of Confidence abating, the ensuing turbulence has shortened the Fed's aggressive interest rate campaign.
- While the Banking crisis of confidence is now almost behind, we must monitor the quarterly results of all banks and financials for potholes.

The Confidence Rises, and Sizable opportunities become evident.

As confidence increases and the fears dissipate, investment opportunities become more attractive. In summation, the positive outcome of the crisis of confidence is that shook the financial stability of many institutions is proving to be a blessing in disguise, as the Fed's nine consecutive interest rate increases have created the scenario for many institutions to face unrealized losses in their portfolios and that will end the current interest rate tightening cycle.

In a testament to how fast and sharp the tide has turned for the banking sector and the Fed, it was less than 30 days ago that Fed Chair Powell, during his semiannual testimony to Congress, presented the FOMC preference of reaccelerating the pace of rate increases. But the Fed is quickly dialing back its stance after the following bank failures.
